Erasmus for Young Entrepreneurs

Erasmus for Young Entrepreneurs (EYE) allows new entrepreneurs to spend time with experienced “host” entrepreneurs in another member state and learn first-hand how to manage an SME. EUROCHAMBRES acts as Support Office since the launch of the programme in 2009.

Austria  Entrepreneurial Skills Pass

The ESP is a unique and new qualification that proves secondary students have had a real entrepreneurship experience and have the necessary knowledge, skills and competences to start a business or to be successfully employed. The qualification, which is based on an Austrian programme, requires the completion of a mini-company experience (1 school year), a self-assessment test and a final exam. Since 2014, the programme is also offered in 9 other countries. Schools can integrate the ESP into their curriculum, in some cases it is offered as an extracurricular activity. The young people are also in direct contact with entrepreneurs that are mentors in the practical part of the training.

Belgium  Startup@Campus

Start-up@Campus, a programme by CCI Antwerp-Waailand, allows students to gain credits during their Bachelor programme while starting up their own company. Together with a coach entrepreneur, the students undergo several phases like “Tackle your idea”, a pitching session and an “Awesome Presentation”. Students with successful projects can use their business as a case for other courses (marketing, finance,…) and replace some classes. Start-up@Campus gives students a better understanding of their entrepreneurial aptitude and helps to make the right career choice.

Connecting young entrepreneurs through networks

Belgium ▶ Bryo (Voka Flemish Chambers of Commerce)
Bryo (Bright and Young) is a community geared at young potentials that have an entrepreneurial itch but don’t exactly know where to scratch. Bryo offers coaching with experienced entrepreneurs and workshops that should help them to develop their business opportunity. The community works with a zest of (positive) peer pressure. Each month they have to tell the other participants what they did in the last month and what steps they took in their project. Bryo’s positive peer pressure, the contact with peers and the new know-how grooms the young potentials into entrepreneurs.

Creating a start-up eco-system

Germany ▶ Berlin Chamber of Commerce and Industry
The Berlin CCI is currently establishing a complete start-up ecosystem that intends to provide the necessary knowledge, support and contacts to aspiring entrepreneurs. Since the beginning of 2014, a dedicated support team creates new services and synergies between existing projects. A Business Welcome Service helps foreign entrepreneurs with advice on visa and other issues to do business in Berlin. An online funding guide and crowdfunding training programme help to access finance. “Pitch-me” events train future entrepreneurs to prepare for pitching sessions. Cooperation activities with initiatives like TEDx and a “Long night of Start-ups” facilitate the exchange between business founders. A press and communication campaign is accompanying these activities.

Spain ▶ Chamber of Commerce in Terrassa
Since 2009, the Chamber organises an annual New Entrepreneurs Day, a meeting place for new entrepreneurs. More than 800 attendees receive practical knowledge about the organisation and management of business projects. The event is part of a larger ecosystem fostering entrepreneurship, including services to foster mobility (Erasmus for Young Entrepreneurs), local public-private partnerships to promote the development of new business projects and direct support to new entrepreneurs by the Chamber. Businesses created with the support of the Chamber have a survival rate higher than 65% three years after their creation. In 2013 the Chamber trained and followed up on 508 new entrepreneur projects, as a result 140 new businesses were created.
